

Where has time gone?
 We seem to have just returned following the Christmas break and now we are at half term! We are already half way through the school year. It was good to see so many mums and dads come in to school this week for Parents Evening to discuss the progress that children have made. We greatly value the link between home and school and this is one of the ways that the children see that we are working together. Dialogue between teacher and parent is vital in ensuring that we have a joint aim. Have a happy half term holiday.
