

Key Stage 2 had a wonderful day out on Tuesday.

Each year, the Yorkshire Agricultural Society aims to educate children as to where their food comes from and the processes involved in it reaching our plates. In addition, they run workshops, manned by those who are connected with the countryside and country pursuits.

Even though we live in an agricultural area, the children return buzzing with new information and chattering about what they have done. It is a day well spent.

Thank you to the YAS for providing this totally free.
